

HAITI GOAT PROJECT

A MINISTRY OF ST. ANDREW THE APOSTLE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH

What is the Haiti Goat Project?

Haiti Goat Project (HGP) is St. Andrew's annual Lenten project that began in 2006. The initiative aids the children of Haiti by providing our Haitian friends the tools and knowledge needed to build a long-term solution to poverty and hunger.

The core concept of the Haiti Goat Project is simple: to survive and succeed, children need a stable source of food, and most importantly, vital protein which, in Haiti, is lacking in most children's diets. The HGP meets this goal through Farm-to-Fork, which provides rural school children with high quality, nutritious goat-meat vegetable chili meals on a weekly basis.

With our parish's support the Farm-to-Fork program continues to thrive!

More about the Farm-to-Fork Program

The Farm-to-Fork Program is a perfect example of how all of the programs in Christianville work together. Chili Kabrit starts with protein provided from goats purchased from local farmers. Vegetables come from local producers or from Christianville's gardens. The students of the Christianville vocational agricultural program, the culinary institute, as well as farm workers and local women, work together to produce the chili. The end result is Chili Kabrit, a highly nutritious and transportable food product that also supports the development of the local economy. Each month more than 5000 US dollars are pumped into the local agricultural economy to directly support local goat producers and vegetable growers in the Gressier community as they provide the components needed for making Chili Kabrit.
